RESPONSIBILITY STATEMENT

Lloyds Bank GmbH, with registered office in Berlin, Federal Republic of Germany accepts responsibility for the information contained in this Prospectus.

The Issuer hereby declares that the information contained in this Prospectus for which it is responsible is, to the best of its knowledge, in accordance with the facts and makes no omission likely to affect its import.

RISK FACTORS

The following is a description of risk factors (i) which may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Pfandbriefe and (ii) which are material in respect of the Pfandbriefe with regard to the market risk associated with these Pfandbriefe.

Prospective investors should consider these risk factors before deciding to purchase the Pfandbriefe. The sequence in which the following risk factors are listed is not an indication of the likelihood of their occurrence or the potential extent of their commercial consequences.

Prospective investors should consider all of the information provided in this Prospectus or incorporated by reference into this Prospectus and consult with their own professional advisers if they consider it necessary.

Risk Factors with regard to or in respect of the Issuer

The following describes general risk factors that affect the ability of the Issuer to fulfil its obligations under the Pfandbriefe. In addition to the other information and risk factors contained in this Prospectus, prospective investors should consider the following specific risk factors relating to the Issuer when deciding on the purchase of or investment in the Pfandbriefe.

The occurrence of one or more of the following risks could have a material adverse effect on the Issuer's net assets, financial position and results of operations, thereby adversely affecting its ability to meet its obligations under Pfandbriefe to be issued to investors.

Counterparty default risk (credit, migration and residual value risks)

Counterparty risks result from the default or deterioration in the creditworthiness of borrowers (classic credit risk) and debtors or a contractual partner from treasury activities (counterparty risks). The Issuer's treasury activities are primarily conducted with its parent company, i.e. financing, maturity transformation and interest rate hedging transactions. Furthermore, cash deposits maturing daily are held for operational purposes at banks with high credit ratings in Germany and the Netherlands.

The Issuer's private customer lending business (consumer loans, mortgage loans) essentially consists of loans in the lower size category:

- Average value of currently outstanding consumer loans as of 31 December 2024: EUR 12,000 (Germany), EUR 17,000 (Netherlands)
- Average value of currently outstanding mortgage loans as of 31 December 2024: EUR 227,000 (Germany), EUR 230,000 (Netherlands)

The corporate customer lending business with large European companies that have maintained a business relationship with the Issuer's parent company since 2023 is essentially based on revolving credit facilities. The counterparty default risk for such transactions is fully covered by cash collateral provided by the Issuer's parent company. As of 31 December 2024, six transactions with a total volume of EUR 765 million have been concluded and as of 30 June 2025 the volume of such transactions grew to EUR 1.7 billion¹. The Issuer intends to increase its corporate customer lending business.

The Issuer uses customer group-specific rating and scoring procedures on a statistical basis to monitor counterparty default risks. For the consumer lending activities, the issuer bases its lending decisions on the household budget and affordability calculations, customer rating and for mortgage lending, the appropriateness and valuation of the residential real estate provided as collateral. For the Dutch retail lending, mandatory legal affordability requirements are in place. For the German retail lending, the Issuer has its own affordability criteria and standards.

In the traditional lending business, credit/counterparty risks, collateral/residual value risks and migration risks arise. In particular, these risks result for the Issuer from

- default risk - a customer is unable to settle receivables from loans taken out;
- the loss in value of collateral (e.g. falling real estate prices);
- deterioration in the borrower's creditworthiness, e.g. due to debt; and
- concentrations of countries, counterparty groups and collateral of the same type.

The Issuer is currently not subject to any significant counterparty risk concentrations on an individual customer basis or any significant sector-related concentrations. However, there is a certain collateral concentration risk as a significant proportion of receivables are secured by collateral in the form of mortgages on residential real estate. In addition, the country distribution, with a focus on the Netherlands, results in a geographical concentration risk and the growing corporate customer lending business may also result in a certain risk concentration in the future.

There is no guarantee that the Issuer's methods and provisions on risk management for identifying, monitoring and controlling counterparty risk, including its policies and procedures, valuation methods and financing principles, are sufficient in all individual cases and will always be sufficient and appropriate in the future. It cannot be ruled out that undetected, unforeseen and unavoidable counterparty risks or counterparty risks that were not identified in the past will arise and lead to loan losses which could have a negative effect on the net assets, financial and income position of the Issuer and could limit its ability to make payments under the Pfandbriefe.

Market Price Risks (interest rate risks in the banking book)

Market price risks arise from uncertainty about the future development (level and volatility) of market risk factors. Market risk management is carried out by the Issuer's treasury department on the basis of market price risk limits/utilisation, stress test results and sensitivity analyses for each business area.

For the Issuer, market price risk mainly consists of interest rate risk. Against the backdrop of its transactions, the Issuer is subject to a fundamental interest rate risk, i.e. mismatches in the interest rate structures of assets and liabilities as well as market interest rate volatility.

The interest rate risk results from a reduction in the interest margin due to changes in market interest rates, which occurs particularly frequently in the case of refinancing and fixed interest rate agreements with un-matched maturities. This is particularly relevant for the Issuer when granting mortgages loans with generally long-term fixed interest rates of up to 30 years in some cases. The existence of items with variable interest rates and refinancing with matching maturities can also lead to an interest rate risk due to the different interest rate elasticity of receivables and liabilities.

As the Issuer's refinancing is primarily carried out with overnight deposits, this initially results in a considerable imbalance, which the Issuer manages as part of its asset liability management, in particular through the use of interest rate swaps. Through the issuance of residential mortgage-backed securities and Pfandbriefe, the Issuer is diversifying its funding sources and thereby gaining the ability to manage maturity mismatches across balance sheet positions.

The interest rate risk is measured on the basis of regulatory interest rate shock scenarios (i.e. supervisory outlier test) and the Issuer's own scenarios (e.g. offensive monetary policy, recession, etc.). The Issuer takes into account the fact that the expected fixed interest rate may deviate from the contractually agreed rate. In particular, prepayment risk in relation to mortgages is affecting interest rate risk as early repayments can significantly alter the interest rate profile and affect both future interest income (net interest income) and the present value of equity (economic value of equity). These factors are quantified, presented in the reporting system and taken into account in the risk-bearing capacity. The Issuer then uses derivative financial instruments to hedge net asset and liability positions for the various maturities in the maturity profile in order to limit interest rate risk.

However, the Issuer may not be able to accurately predict the likelihood, nature and magnitude of market interest rate changes or how and to what extent such changes may affect its business. The Issuer also may not be able to adequately prepare for, or compensate for, the consequences of such changes. Any failure to predict and prepare for changes in interest rates, or adjust for the consequences of these changes, may adversely affect the earnings and capital levels and overall business, results of operations and financial position of the Issuer.

Refinancing and Liquidity Risks

Refinancing and liquidity risks include, in particular, refinancing cost risk and insolvency risk.

Refinancing cost risk is defined as the risk of a negative deviation from the expected value of refinancing costs. The decisive factors here are both negative effects from changes in market liquidity spreads and an unfavourable development of the Issuer's own credit spread. It also comprises the risk of negative consequences in the form of higher refinancing costs due to a deviation from the expected refinancing structure.

Insolvency risk is the risk of not being able to fulfil due payment obligations in full or on time as they become due. For example, the Issuer could face a cash shortage if customers unexpectedly withdraw large amounts of deposits (call risk). If refinancing costs materialise, the Issuer could also find itself unable to secure adequate refinancing to meet its due payment obligations.

In the event of difficulties in accessing the debt markets on terms the Issuer considers acceptable, due to market conditions or factors specific to the Issuer, or if the Issuer experiences unforeseen outflows of cash, including material decreases in customer deposits, or reduction of the Issuer's available collateral, the Issuer's liquidity buffers may not be sufficient in every market environment or specific situation, and the Issuer's liquidity risk management models may lead to inadequate steering measures. In addition, non-compliance with liquidity requirements might have regulatory consequences. Any reoccurrence or prolonged continuation of such conditions could have an adverse effect on the Issuer's business, results of operations, liquidity and financial position as well as its ability to satisfy the applicable regulatory requirements with respect to liquidity and regulatory capital and, if severe, on the Issuer's prospects.

Operational Risks

Operational risk is the risk of loss resulting from inadequate or failed internal processes and systems, human error or external events. This definition includes legal risks and fraudulent acts. At the same time, the definition of operational risk also includes the handling and potential loss of information technology ("IT") systems and infrastructure, confidential information and data as well as deficiencies in the fight against money laundering.

The constantly growing degree of automation and digitalisation increases the dependency on IT systems, networks, cloud solutions and databases. This also applies to service providers and outsourcing companies that are part of the IT supply chain and therefore offer potential points of attack. IT risks (e.g. system failures), cyber risks and information security risks continue to grow. At the same time, the costs for IT risk measures are increasing. The materialisation of IT-related risks can severely impact the operations and therefore the profitability of the Issuer.

It cannot be ruled out that the precautions taken by the Issuer against operational risk may be insufficient in individual cases. The realisation of such a risk could have a negative effect on the net assets, financial and income position of the Issuer which could limit its ability to make payments under the Pfandbriefe.

Risks related to Macroeconomic Developments

Increasing competition in the Dutch mortgage market, for example due to the entry of competitors with a sole focus on digital banking, could lead to a situation in which the Issuer loses market share. Another risk is that the competition will intensify in view of the lower volume of new business, putting pressure on margins. This could result in the Issuer not achieving its expected profit targets, particularly if it is unable to keep pace with the digitalisation of the business.

The German mortgage market is facing different challenges that could impact the Issuer's business. Despite recent interest rate cuts by the European Central Bank, interest rates remain elevated when compared to historically low levels in particular prior to 2022, which may continue to negatively affect demand for real estate financing. In the event of negative interest rate levels or interest rate levels at zero, the Issuer may be unable to pass on such interest rates to retail savings customers.

In addition, increasing competition from both, established banks and new market participants, including digital service providers, could put margins under pressure. Strict regulatory requirements and the need to adapt to changing market conditions are further risks. Finally, economic uncertainty, particularly regarding the development of property prices and the overall economic outlook, could negatively affect both, credit demand and borrowers' ability to repay, which could also negatively affect the Issuer's business and financial position.

Following a temporary decline in previous years, property prices in the Netherlands, as measured by the House Price Index, have been rising again since mid-2023. In Germany, property prices experienced a more pronounced decline during 2023 and early 2024, but are now showing signs of recovery and since then are stabilizing and moderately rising again. The current interest rate level and the difficult macroeconomic environment are making it more difficult to buy real estate, particularly due to the continuously high prices and the need to fulfil strict energy efficiency requirements for buildings. Even though there are indications that property prices are stabilizing and start moderately rising to some extent again, property prices may fluctuate and continue to be under pressure when compared to previous years. This situation may also have a negative impact on potential new business.

If property prices were falling again in the future, this could have a negative impact on collateral values in the area of property loans underwritten by the Issuer. Higher value adjustments or capital requirements could have a negative impact on the Issuer's earnings situation.

The uncertain economic situation, exacerbated by global developments such as geopolitical tensions, political or armed conflicts, trade disputes or supply chain disruptions, could have a negative impact on the Issuer's business, particularly by negatively affecting the employment situation in the targeted markets and customers' ability to repay. Following the 2025 federal election, it is expected that the new German federal government will introduce measures in 2025 to strengthen the German economy, even though its effects may only materialize in the medium or longer term. Accordingly, pressure on businesses (e.g. persistently high energy costs) and thus also on private households with low income and assets may continue throughout 2025.

The Issuer is also monitoring recent political developments in the United States. In particular, the announced U.S. tariff policy could have negative effects on the European economy and, consequently, on credit demand, which could negatively affect the Issuer's business.

The Issuer is not directly involved in Russia, Ukraine, the Middle East or China/Taiwan. Nevertheless, the ongoing or future escalations or geopolitical tensions in such areas may negatively affect the global economy, the Issuer's customers, investors or credit markets and thus, may have a negative impact on the Issuer's business through various channels, in particular the following:

- Reduced demand for credit products for private customers: Increased economic uncertainty, which leads to a loss of consumer confidence and thus to lower demand for credit products for private customers.
- Potentially increased risk of higher payment arrears and default volumes: Lower demand for products and services, higher unemployment levels and deterioration in the financial situation of customers, could negatively impact customers' ability to repay their loans to the Issuer.

Any reoccurrence or prolonged continuation of such conditions could have an adverse effect on the Issuer's business, results of operations, liquidity and financial position.

Risks related to Legal and Regulatory Changes

It is expected that the regulatory requirements will continue to be expanded in the coming years, which will tie up project capacities and could also have a negative impact on the Issuer's cost situation, for example due to the need to adapt IT systems. Due to the close connection to the Issuer's parent group (based in the UK), the setting of framework conditions that are decoupled from the EU and the lack of an EU equivalence decision in relation to UK regulation, combined with the uncertainty regarding the duration and outcome of the decision, also entail additional requirements. In addition, the capital requirements to be taken into account in capital planning due to the existing macroprudential package of measures by the German Federal Financial Supervisory Authority (Bundesanstalt für Finanzdienstleistungsaufsicht – "BaFin") (countercyclical capital buffer of 0.75%, systemic risk buffer for the German residential property sector of 2%) continue to restrict business opportunities. This potentially leads to a reduction in the difference between the capital requirements for compliance with the leverage ratio and the capital requirements in accordance with Article 92 CRR. Even if BaFin's assessment of the risk situation does not currently suggest the use of borrower-based instruments (upper limits for income-related lending standards, such as the debt service-to-income ratio or the ratio of debt to the income of new borrowers), the supervisory authority is at least preparing for their use. The Dutch central bank ("DNB") also increased the countercyclical capital buffer from 1% to 2% in May 2023. Banks must comply with the additional buffer requirements since May 2024. The burden from the introduction of the so-called IRB risk weight floor in 2022, which consists of an average minimum risk weight to be applied by internal ratings-based approach institutions in relation to their Dutch residential property portfolio and thus limits the positive effects of institution-specific risk models, is assumed to remain in place in the long term with the introduction of CRR III. Due to the introduction of a cap on the output floor, DNB also intends to continue applying the so-called DNB Floor, which means that a higher minimum capital requirement must still be met for Dutch mortgage loans.

If the Issuer fails to address, or appears to fail to address, appropriately any changes or initiatives in banking regulation, its reputation could be harmed and regulatory authorities could, among other things, bring administrative and judicial proceedings against the Issuer, which could result, inter alia, with suspension or revocation of the Issuer's licenses, cease and desist orders, increase of own fund requirement, conditions, fines, civil penalties, criminal penalties or other disciplinary action.

For the Dutch buy-to-let portfolio, additional risks arise from changes in the Dutch and EU legal framework, which could reduce the profitability of such investments and thus reduce the potential market, but also increase planning uncertainties and risk for the Issuer.

Risks related to the labour market

The labour market in Germany and the Netherlands is tight for various reasons which increases the risk of staff turnover and rising personnel costs. In addition, the proliferation of remote working opportunities creates competition for personnel with companies outside the employees' place of residence, potentially further increasing staff turnover. This might disrupt or slow down the Issuer's operations and impact its profitability. In addition, the increasing implementation of artificial intelligence technologies may lead to structural changes in the labour market, creating uncertainty around future employability and skill requirements. This could negatively affect the Issuer, in particular in relation to workforce availability and composition, or the need for structural adjustments in the Issuer's organization.

The Issuer is subject to the financial and non-financial risks related with ESG matters, for example, climate change and human rights issues

The risks associated with ESG-related matters are coming under an increasing focus, both in the markets in which the Issuer operates and internationally, from governments, regulators and large sections of society. This includes numerous topics, across environmental (including climate change, as well as biodiversity and loss of natural capital); social (including human rights issues, financial inclusion, and workforce diversity and inclusion and employee wellbeing); and governance (including board diversity, culture and ethics, executive compensation, management structure, employee conduct, data privacy and whistleblowing) matters. Legislative and regulatory expectations of how banks should prudently manage and transparently disclose ESG-related risks continue to evolve.

Analyses differentiate between transitory and physical climate risks. The former have a potential impact on the collateral value of financed properties, as properties that do not fulfil current energy standards, for example, are likely to perform worse in price development relative to market trends. Physical climate risks refer to the threat posed by the increased occurrence of natural disasters. The physical risks could also lead to the disruption of business activity at customers' locations. Damage to the Issuer customers' properties and operations could disrupt business, impair asset values and negatively impact the creditworthiness of customers leading to increased default rates, delinquencies, write-offs and impairment charges in the Issuer's portfolios. These risks can rarely be fully hedged by borrowers, meaning that the expectation of increasing natural disasters is also likely to have an impact on collateral values and the property loan business as a whole. The Issuer must adequately embed the risks associated with climate change identified above into its risk framework to appropriately measure, manage and disclose the various financial and operational risks it faces as a result of climate change. If it fails to adapt its strategy and business model to the changing regulatory requirements and market expectations on a timely basis, this could have an adverse impact on the Issuer's regulatory compliance, as well as its results of operations, financial condition, capital requirements and prospects.

The impact of the extensive commercial, technological, policy and regulatory changes required to achieve transition remains uncertain, but it is expected to be significant and may be disruptive across the global economy and markets. Some sectors such as property, energy (including oil and gas), mining, infrastructure, transport (including automotive and aviation) and agriculture are expected to be particularly impacted. These changes may cause the impairment of asset values, impact the creditworthiness of the Issuer's customers, and impact defaults among retail customers (including through the ability of customers to repay their mortgages, as well as the impact on the value of the underlying property).

The implications of inadequately managing or disclosing sustainability- and/or climate-related risks or evidencing progress in line with expectations, could also result in potential, customer attrition, loss of investor confidence or wider reputational damage, such as increased stakeholder concern or negative feedback.

There is also increased investor, regulatory, civil society and customer scrutiny regarding how businesses address social issues, including tackling inequality, improving financial inclusion and access to finance, working conditions, workplace health, safety and employee wellbeing, workforce diversity and inclusion, data protection and management, human rights and supply chain management which may impact the Issuer's employees, customers, and their business activities and the communities in which they operate.

Risk Factors with regard to or in respect of the Pfandbriefe

The following is a disclosure of the principal risk factors which are material to the Pfandbriefe in order to assess the market risk associated with the Pfandbriefe. Prospective investors should consider these risk factors before deciding to purchase the Pfandbriefe.

Prospective investors should consider all information provided in this Prospectus and consult with their own professional advisers (including their financial, accounting, legal and tax advisers) if they consider it necessary. In addition, investors should be aware that the risks described may combine and thus intensify one another.

An investment in the Pfandbriefe may not be suitable for all prospective investors. Each prospective purchaser of the Pfandbriefe must determine the suitability of that investment in light of their own circumstances. In particular, each prospective investor should:

- have sufficient knowledge and experience to make a meaningful evaluation of the Pfandbriefe, the merits and risks of investing in the Pfandbriefe and the information contained or incorporated by reference in this Prospectus or any applicable supplement;*
- have access to, and knowledge of, appropriate analytical tools to evaluate, in the context of its particular financial situation and the investment(s) it is considering, an investment in the Pfandbriefe and the impact the Pfandbriefe will have on its overall investment portfolio;*
- have sufficient financial resources and liquidity to bear all of the risks of an investment in the Pfandbriefe, including where the currency for principal and interest payments is different from the prospective investor's currency;*
- understand thoroughly the terms of the Pfandbriefe and be familiar with the behaviour of any relevant indices and financial markets; and*
- be able to evaluate (either alone or with the help of a financial adviser) possible scenarios for economic, interest rate and other factors that may affect its investment and its ability to bear the applicable risks.*

Sophisticated institutional investors generally do not purchase complex financial instruments as stand-alone investments. They purchase complex financial instruments as a way to reduce risk or enhance yield with an understood, measured, appropriate addition of risk to their overall portfolio. A prospective investor should not invest in the Pfandbriefe unless they have the expertise (either alone or with a financial adviser) to evaluate how the Pfandbriefe will perform under changing conditions, the resulting effects on the value of the Pfandbriefe and the impact this investment will have on the prospective investor's overall investment portfolio.

Liquidity Risk

There can be no assurance that a liquid secondary market for the Pfandbriefe will develop or, if it does develop, that it will persist. The Pfandbriefe will be listed on the Luxembourg Stock Exchange. This does not necessarily lead to greater liquidity as compared to unlisted Pfandbriefe. The possibility to sell the Pfandbriefe might additionally be restricted by country specific reasons.

Transaction Costs/Charges

When Pfandbriefe are purchased or sold, several types of incidental costs (including transaction fees and commissions) are incurred in addition to the purchase or sale price of the Note. These incidental costs may significantly reduce or eliminate any profit from holding the Pfandbriefe. Credit institutions as a rule charge commissions which are either fixed minimum commissions or pro-rata commissions, depending on the order value. To the extent that additional – domestic or foreign – parties are involved in the execution of an order, including but not limited to domestic dealers or brokers in foreign markets, Holders may also be charged for the brokerage fees, commissions and other fees and expenses of such parties (thirds party costs).

In addition to such costs directly related to the purchase of securities (direct costs), potential investors must also take into account any follow-up costs (such as custody fees). Potential Investors should inform themselves about any additional costs incurred in connection with the purchase, custody or sale of the Pfandbriefe before investing in the Pfandbriefe.

Change of Law

The Terms and Conditions of the Pfandbriefe will be governed by German law in effect as at the date of this Prospectus. No assurance can be given as to the impact of any possible judicial decision or change to German law (or law applicable in Germany), or administrative practice after the date of this Prospectus.

Market price risk

The holders of the Pfandbriefe (each a "Holder", and together the "Holders") are exposed to the risk that the price of such Pfandbrief falls as a result of changes in the market interest rate. While the nominal interest rate of a Pfandbrief as specified in the Terms and Conditions is fixed during the life of the Pfandbrief, the current interest rate on the capital market ("market interest rate") typically changes on a daily basis. As the market interest rate changes, the price of a Pfandbrief also changes, but in the opposite direction. If the market interest rate increases, the price of a Pfandbrief typically falls, until the yield of such Pfandbrief is approximately equal to the market interest rate. If the market interest rate falls, the price of a Pfandbrief typically increases, until the yield of such Pfandbrief is approximately equal to the market interest rate. If the Holder holds such Pfandbrief until maturity, changes in the market interest rate are without relevance to such Holder as the Pfandbrief will be redeemed at a specified redemption amount, usually the principal amount of such Pfandbrief.

Taxation

Potential purchasers of Pfandbriefe should be aware that stamp duty and other taxes and/or charges may be levied in accordance with the laws and practices in the countries where the Pfandbriefe are transferred and other relevant jurisdictions. Potential purchasers of Pfandbriefe who are in any doubt as to their tax position should consult their own independent tax advisers. In addition, potential purchasers should be aware that tax regulations and their application by the relevant taxation authorities may change from time to time. Accordingly, it is not possible to predict the precise tax treatment of the Pfandbriefe which will apply at any given time.

Risks relating to changes in the legal framework on covered bonds

In order to harmonise the European covered bonds market, Regulation (EU) 2019/2160 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 27 November 2019 amending Regulation (EU) No 575/2013 as regards exposures in the form of covered bonds (the "Covered Bond Regulation") and Directive (EU) 2019/2162 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 27 November 2019 on the issue of covered bonds and covered bond public supervision and amending Directives 2009/65/EC and 2014/59/EU (the "Covered Bond Directive") were issued in 2019.

The Covered Bond Regulation in particular amends Article 129 of the CRR, specifying Loan-to Value Limits ("LTV limits") as soft coverage limits, meaning that while there are no limits to the size of an underlying loan, such a loan can act as collateral only within the LTV limits for the assets. LTV limits should also apply throughout the entire lifetime of the loan.

The Covered Bond Regulation applies directly without transposing national legislation since 8 July 2022. In Germany, the Covered Bond Directive was implemented by a law transposing the Covered Bond Directive (the "CBD Implementation Act") which has, inter alia, lead to changes in the German Pfandbrief Act (Pfandbriefgesetz, the "Pfandbrief Act"). The provisions of the CBD Implementation Act changing the Pfandbrief Act have entered into force on 1 July 2021, the remainder have entered into force on 8 July 2022. In addition, in 2023 further amendments to the Pfandbrief Act were introduced through Article 9 of the Kreditwirtschaftsförderungsgesetz, which entered into force on 30 December 2023. The changes to the Pfandbrief Act were mostly technical in nature and included some clarifications and adjustments.

The new legislation has significantly increased requirements for issuers of covered bonds like Pfandbriefe, such as the Issuer. If the Issuer fails to address, or appears to fail to address, these changes appropriately, its reputation could be harmed and regulatory authorities could, among other things, bring administrative or judicial proceedings against the Issuer, which could result, among other things, in suspension or revocation of the Issuer's licenses, cease and desist orders, conditions, fines, civil penalties, criminal penalties or other disciplinary action.

Regulations applicable since 1 July 2021

As of 1 July 2021, pursuant to Section 30 (2a) Pfandbrief Act the administrator of a cover pool (Sachwalter, "Cover Pool Administrator") may extend the maturity of Pfandbriefe, including Pfandbriefe issued prior to 1 July 2021, by up to 12 months (Fälligkeitsverschiebung). Further, the Cover Pool Administrator may defer the payment of any interest due within one month of its appointment to the end of this one-month period. Deferred amounts shall bear interest for the duration of the deferral pursuant to the conditions applicable until the deferral. Deferred interest payments shall be deemed to be principal amounts.

Pursuant to Section 30 (2b) Pfandbrief Act, the Cover Pool Administrator may only extend the maturity of outstanding Pfandbriefe provided that (i) the extension of the maturity is necessary to avoid the illiquidity of the Pfandbriefbank with limited business activities (Pfandbriefbank mit beschränkter Geschäftstätigkeit), (ii) the Pfandbriefbank with limited business activities is not over-indebted and (iii) there is reason to believe that the Pfandbriefbank with limited business activities will be able to meet its liabilities due after expiry of the maximum possible extension period, taking into account further options to extend the maturity. Holders of Pfandbriefe should therefore note that neither the failure to redeem the Pfandbriefe nor the extension of the maturity will result in an event of default. Holders should further note that the extension of the maturity of one Pfandbrief issue may lead to the deferral of the maturity of other Pfandbrief issues. Due to the deferral and possibility to redeem Pfandbriefe at any time between the original maturity and the end of the deferral period, Holders would receive the outstanding principal amount later than expected or at an unexpected time and there is a risk that they may only be able to reinvest the amount to conditions less favourable compared to the market conditions at the time of the initial maturity.

There are uncertainties as to possible changes in the legal interpretations in relation to the issuance of Pfandbriefe. These uncertainties could require increased costs of compliance for the Issuer or subject the Issuer to additional legal risk, which in turn could lead to lower revenues, cash flows and worsen the overall financial condition of the Issuer and potentially subsequently have an adverse effect on the economic or legal position of creditors of the Issuer.

Regulations applicable since 8 July 2022

On 8 July 2022, specific amendments and supplements to the legal framework of the Pfandbrief Act came into force. Particularly noteworthy are the extension of the transparency requirements for investor information and the extension of the separate paragraph for "derivative transactions eligible for cover". In addition, the requirements for (further) cover assets were amended. For more information see Section "Pfandbriefe and the Mortgage Banking Sector" below.

Additional Risks relating to Pfandbriefe including the risk of insolvency of the Issuer

The value of the Pfandbriefe and the assets of the cover pool depend on a number of interrelating factors, including economic, financial and political events in the Netherlands, Germany or elsewhere, including factors affecting capital markets generally and the stock exchanges on which the Pfandbriefe are traded. The price at which a Holder will be able to sell the Pfandbriefe prior to maturity may be at a discount, which could be substantial, from the issue price or the purchase price paid by such purchaser.

In case of an insolvency of the Issuer, the Holders of the Pfandbriefe have preferential access to the proceeds from the liquidation of the cover pool assets. Irrespective of the legal requirements under the Pfandbrief Act in connection with the maintenance of a cover pool in connection with the accompanying process steps for determining cover pool eligibility, it cannot be completely ruled out that the cover pool will be insufficient to satisfy all outstanding claims of the Holders. Prospective investors should note that the cover pool consists almost exclusively of residential fixed rate mortgages in the Netherlands with only a certain number of loans that are guaranteed to cover loan losses incurred by the lender. If and to the extent the respective cover pool is not sufficient to fulfill all outstanding payment claims in relation to the Pfandbriefe, the Holders will have a claim against the insolvency estate. However, such claim is likely to result in a loss of the Holders as the insolvency estate may not suffice to cover completely all relevant creditors having claims against the insolvency estate.

Further, from 1 July 2021 in relation to any outstanding Pfandbriefe there is also the risk of a maturity deferral (Fälligkeitsverschiebung) of up to twelve months effected by a Cover Pool Administrator as described in more detail above in "Risks relating to changes in the legal framework on covered bonds".

Credit ratings may not reflect all risks and are subject to change

The ratings assigned to the Issuer and the Pfandbriefe may not reflect the potential impact of all risks that may affect the value of the Pfandbriefe. A credit or security rating is not a recommendation to buy, sell or hold securities. The rating assigned to the Pfandbriefe should be evaluated independently from similar ratings on other types of securities.

There can be no assurance that the ratings assigned to the Pfandbriefe and the Issuer will continue for any period of time or that they will not be reviewed, revised, suspended or withdrawn entirely. A qualification, downgrade or withdrawal of any of the aforementioned ratings above may have an impact on the market value and/or the liquidity of the Pfandbriefe.

A rating does not prevent the value of the Pfandbriefe from being subject to market fluctuations due to changes in prevailing interest rates and/or credit spreads. Other credit rating agencies could seek to rate the Pfandbriefe and/or the Issuer without having been requested to do so by the Issuer, and if such unsolicited ratings are lower than the comparable ratings assigned to the Pfandbriefe and/or the Issuer, those unsolicited ratings could have an adverse effect on the market value and/or the liquidity of the Pfandbriefe.

Weiterhin kann der Sachwalter die Fälligkeit von Zinsen, die innerhalb eines Monats nach seiner Bestellung fällig werden, auf das Ende dieses Monatszeitraums verschieben. Hinausgeschobene Beträge sind für die Dauer der Fälligkeitsverschiebung nach den bis zu der Verschiebung geltenden Bedingungen zu verzinsen. Hinausgeschobene Zinszahlungen gelten dabei als Kapitalbeträge.

Der Sachwalter darf eine Fälligkeitsverschiebung gemäß § 30 (2b) Pfandbriefgesetz nur vornehmen, sofern zum Zeitpunkt des Hinausschiebens der Fälligkeit (i) das Hinausschieben der Fälligkeit erforderlich ist, um die Zahlungsunfähigkeit der Pfandbriefbank mit beschränkter Geschäftstätigkeit zu vermeiden, (ii) die Pfandbriefbank mit beschränkter Geschäftstätigkeit nicht überschuldet ist und (iii) Grund zu der Annahme besteht, dass die Pfandbriefbank mit beschränkter Geschäftstätigkeit jedenfalls nach Ablauf

§ 5 REDEMPTION

- (a) Final Redemption. Unless previously redeemed in whole or in part or purchased and cancelled and subject to an extension of maturity of the Pfandbriefe in accordance with paragraph (2), the Pfandbriefe shall be redeemed at their Final Redemption Amount on 9 September 2032 (the "Maturity Date").

Further, the cover pool administrator may defer the payment of any interest due within one month of its appointment to the end of this one-month period. Deferred amounts shall bear interest for the duration of the deferral pursuant to the conditions applicable until the deferral. Deferred interest payments shall be deemed to be principal amounts.

6. Regulatory

Liquidity Management

The aim of liquidity planning and management of the Issuer is to ensure solvency at all times, even in crisis situations. Accordingly, a comprehensive range of instruments is available for recording, managing and monitoring liquidity risks, which is continuously being developed. In order to be able to cover unexpected liquidity bottlenecks, the Issuer ensures that sufficient liquid assets (e.g. liquidity reserves at Deutsche Bundesbank) are held and that sufficient refinancing options and opportunities to sell assets (funding potential) exist.

The Issuer's short term liquidity risk is limited by the stipulations of the CRR. The Issuer is required to maintain a liquidity coverage ratio ("LCR") in accordance with Article 412 CRR of 100%. The LCR is defined as the ratio of available highly liquid assets to net cash outflow over the next 30 days, subject to defined stress conditions. The Issuer's LCR was 152.3% (152.7%)² as at 31 December 2024 (153.9% (154.0%)² as at 31 December 2023 and 153.9% (154.0%)² as at 31 December 2022).

The structural liquidity is measured by the net stable funding ratio ("NSFR") in accordance with Article 427 et seq. CRR. The NSFR is the ratio of available stable funding to required stable funding (calculated according to the CRR) and is intended to safeguard medium to long-term structural liquidity over a period of one year and, above all, to reduce the level of dependence on short-term funding. The Issuer's NSFR was 141.6% (141.2%)² as at 31 December 2024 (153.0% (152.8%)² as at 31 December 2023 and 148.1%(147.4%)² as at 31 December 2022).

Other risk indicators that are used as part of the monitoring of liquidity risk are, inter alia, the effects of (stressed) (liquidity) outflows on the liquidity position with 1-month and 3-month horizons.

Capital Requirements

The Issuer must comply with certain regulatory capital requirements as set out in the CRR and implemented by BaFin.

In 2023, the Central Bank of the Federal Republic of Germany (Bundesbank) on the instruction of BaFin conducted a special audit of the Issuer focusing on organisational requirements under Section 25 of the German Banking Act (Kreditwesengesetz – KWG). The findings mainly relate to deficits in the risk management system within the Issuer's lending business and processes related to outsourcing. The Issuer is continuing to focus on, and to take, the action required to remediate the BaFin findings, with a follow-up audit expected in the second half of 2025.

In May 2024, based on the findings of the audit, BaFin ordered a temporary increase of minimum capital requirements. As the Issuer's CET1 Ratio and Total Capital Ratio already exceeded the increased minimum requirements, no increase in existing capital was required to meet the increased minimum requirements.

The latest formal Supervisory Review and Evaluation Process decision has led to a modest reduction in the overall capital requirements.

The regulatory capital requirements as well as the Issuer's capital ratios are shown in the table below:

	As of 31 December 2024	As of 31 December 2023	As of 31 December 2022
Risk-Weighted Assets (RWA)	EUR 4.5bn	EUR 4.0bn	EUR 3.4bn
CET1 Regulatory Minimum	9.8%	8.1%	8.2%
CET1 Ratio	18.6% (17.4%) ³	18.1% (17.6%) ³	17.9% (15.9%) ³
Total Capital Regulatory Minimum	14.2%	11.7%	12.6%
Total Capital Ratio	20.0% (18.9%) ³	19.8% (19.3%) ³	19.9% (17.8%) ³

Business Overview

1. Principal Activities

Lloyds Bank GmbH is a bank with its registered office in Berlin and a foreign branch in Amsterdam, the Netherlands, with approximately 580 employees based in Amsterdam and Berlin. Lloyds Bank GmbH is not subject to direct supervision by the ECB due to the size of its total assets (< EUR 30 billion) and its significance for the German financial market. On 23 January 2023, BaFin classified the Issuer as a "potentially significant" credit institution.

The Issuer sells deposit and loan products on the German and Dutch markets and to private customers based there. The offering currently consists of overnight and fixed term deposits, consumer credit products and mortgage loans in both markets as well as car loans in the German market. In the Netherlands, some loans may also be guaranteed to cover losses incurred by the lender. The products are sold via intermediaries and the websites and partner websites operated in the respective countries, while the Issuer maintains high underwriting standards. Lloyds Bank GmbH is also cooperating with service providers such as Stater N.V.

The annual financial statements of the Issuer as of 31 December 2024 report claims on customers of EUR 20.08 billion. As of 31 December 2024, adjustments to value totalling EUR 43.27 million (individual adjustments to value and general adjustments to value) were recognised on the balance sheet for claims on customers. In the Netherlands, the majority of receivables from customers relate to mortgages and amount to approximately EUR 18.9 billion, with savings of approximately EUR 2.3 billion, each as of 31 December 2024. In Germany, receivables from customers relating to mortgages amount to approximately EUR 0.1 billion, with savings of approximately EUR 13.4 billion, each as of 31 December 2024.

In Germany, the mortgage product was launched in the third quarter of 2023. The Issuer received a Pfandbrief license in 2023, which adds another product to its refinancing options. In 2024, the Issuer issued its first Pfandbrief to actively manage maturity mismatches in its funding structure, which mainly consists of German and Dutch (overnight) deposits and fixed term deposits as well as, to a lesser extent, wholesale and intragroup funding.

In addition, the Issuer has been offering credit lines for corporate customers since the financial year 2023.

2. Legal & Organisational Structure

Lloyds Bank GmbH is a wholly owned subsidiary of Lloyds Bank plc, London (UK)⁴, which belongs to Lloyds Banking Group, Edinburgh (UK).

In January 2021, the Issuer acquired 100% of the capital and voting rights in Lloyds Hypotheken B.V., Capelle aan den IJssel, Netherlands ("LHBV"). In 2020, the majority of the real estate financing portfolio was transferred from LHBV to Lloyds Bank GmbH as part of an asset transfer. A subordinate part of the loan portfolio remains at LHBV. No new business is planned for LHBV.

Lloyds Bank GmbH also exercises a controlling influence over the special purpose entity established to issue securitised liabilities (Candide Financing 2021-1 B.V., Candide Financing 2024-1 B.V. and Candide Financing 2025-1 B.V., each Amsterdam, Netherlands). No shares are held by the Issuer. The Dutch branch of Lloyds Bank GmbH is part of an income tax group in the Netherlands with LHBV, among others.

PFANDBRIEFE AND THE MORTGAGE BANKING SECTOR

The following is a description reduced to some of the more fundamental principles governing the laws regarding Pfandbriefe and Pfandbrief Banks in overview form and without addressing all the laws' complexities and details. Accordingly, it is qualified in its entirety by reference to the applicable laws.

Introduction

The Pfandbrief operations of the Issuer are subject to the Pfandbrief Act.

Since 19 July 2005, German credit institutions such as the Issuer are permitted, subject to authorisation and further requirements of the Pfandbrief Act, to engage in the Pfandbrief business and to issue Pfandbriefe.

German credit institutions wishing to take up the Pfandbrief business must obtain a special authorisation under the KWG from BaFin and, for that purpose, must meet some additional requirements as specified in the Pfandbrief Act. The Issuer holds such authorisation.

The operations of all banks engaged in the issuance of Pfandbriefe are regulated by the Pfandbrief Act, the KWG and the CRR, and are subject to the supervision of the BaFin. In particular, the BaFin carries out regular audits of the assets forming part of any Cover Pool (as defined below).

In this overview, banks authorised to issue Pfandbriefe will generally be referred to as "Pfandbrief Banks".

Rules applicable to all Types of Pfandbriefe

Pfandbriefe are standardised debt instruments issued by a Pfandbrief Bank. The structure of Pfandbriefe is strictly governed by provisions of the Pfandbrief Act and subject to the supervision of the BaFin. Pfandbriefe generally are medium- to long-term bonds, typically with an original maturity of two to ten years, which are secured or "covered" at all times by a pool of qualifying cover assets (Deckungswerte) as described below. Pfandbriefe are obligations of the issuing bank. Hence, no separate vehicle is created for their issuance or for the issuance of any specific series of Pfandbriefe. Due to statutory provisions the terms and conditions of Pfandbriefe may not provide the option for an early redemption at the option of the holders.

Pfandbriefe may either be Mortgage Pfandbriefe (Hypothekenspfandbriefe), Public Sector Pfandbriefe (Öffentliche Pfandbriefe) or Ship Mortgage Pfandbriefe (Schiffspfandbriefe) as well as Aircraft Pfandbriefe (Flugzeugpfandbriefe). The outstanding Pfandbriefe of any one of these types must be covered by a separate pool of qualifying cover assets: a separate pool for each of Mortgage Pfandbriefe, Public Sector Pfandbriefe, Ship Mortgage Pfandbriefe and Aircraft Pfandbriefe ("Cover Pool"). An independent trustee (Treuhänder) appointed by the BaFin monitors that in each case the prescribed cover exists and whether the assets used as cover are correctly entered in the cover register.

The coverage (Deckung) of all outstanding Pfandbriefe must be ensured at all times according to the net present value (Barwert), which shall include interest and principal obligations. Moreover, the present value of the cover assets contained in the Cover Pool must exceed the net present value of all outstanding Pfandbriefe of this type by currently at least two per cent. (barwertige sichernde Überdeckung).

Such present value excess cover must consist of:

- (i) debt securities, debt register claims, treasury bills and treasury certificates of the German government, a special fund of the German government, a German federal state, the European Communities, another member state of the European Union, another member state of the European Economic Area (the "EEA States"), the European Investment Bank, the IBRD-World Bank, the Council of Europe Development Bank, or the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development, Switzerland, the United States, the UK, Canada, Japan to the extent that their risk weight has been assigned to the credit rating 1 according to table 1 of Article 114 para. 2 CRR by a recognised international rating agency;

- (ii) debt securities the interest and redemption of which is guaranteed by any of the foregoing entities;
- (iii) credit balances, if the amount of the claims of the Pfandbrief Bank is already known at the time of acquisition, the fulfilment is not conditional, limited in time, subordinated to other claims by legal transaction or otherwise restricted and which are maintained with the European Central Bank, the central banks of member states of the European Union or another member state to the Agreement on the European Economic Area; and
- (iv) credit balances, the fulfilment of which is not conditional, limited in time, subordinated to other claims by legal transaction or otherwise restricted, and only provided that the Pfandbrief Bank knows the amount of the claim at the time of the purchase, and the credit balances are maintained with appropriate credit institutions having their seat in a state named in sub-clause (i) above where the equivalence of the respective state's supervisory framework within the meaning of Article 107(4) of Regulation (EU) No 575/2013 has been determined by the European Commission, if the state is not a member state of the European Union or another member state to the Agreement on the European Economic Area, and where the credit institution has, a risk weight equalling the credit rating 1 or 2 according to table 3 of Article 120 para. 1 of the CRR. Credit balances from the same banking group will not be permissible.

The claims maturing under recorded cover assets and maturing liabilities under Pfandbriefe outstanding and derivative transactions included in cover shall be reconciled against each other on a same-day basis for the next 180 days in order to safeguard liquidity. The highest negative amount so calculated must at all times within the next 180 days be covered by the sum of the cover values listed under sub-clauses (i) to (iv) above and the entered recorded cover assets which the European System of Central Banks have classified as being eligible for central bank credit. The registered cover assets permitted to cover liquidity requirements must comply with the requirements of Art. 10, 11 or 12 of Delegated Regulation (EU) 2015/61 and be recognised by the credit institution in accordance with Art. 9 of this Delegated Regulation. Credit balances against eligible credit institutions as described under (iv) the remaining maturity of which does not exceed three months will also be eligible. In addition, it is specified that the aggregate amount of the Nominal Amounts of the cover assets registered for a class must exceed the aggregate amount of the Nominal Amounts of the outstanding Pfandbriefe of this class by the following percentages: (i) in the case of Mortgage Pfandbriefe and Public Sector Pfandbriefe, by at least 2 per cent; and in the case of (ii) Ship Mortgage Pfandbriefe and Aircraft Pfandbriefe, by at least 5 per cent (nennwertige sichernde Überdeckung).

The Pfandbrief Bank must record in the register of cover assets for any Cover Pool of a given Pfandbrief type each asset and the claims or liabilities arising from Cover Pool eligible derivatives (deckungsgeeignete Derivategeschäfte). Cover Pool eligible derivatives may be entered in such register only with the consent of the trustee and the counterparty.

The Pfandbrief Bank must maintain a suitable risk management system meeting the requirements specified in detail in the Pfandbrief Act and must comply with comprehensive disclosure requirements on a quarterly and annual basis set out in detail in the Pfandbrief Act.

As Lloyds Bank GmbH is issuing Mortgage Pfandbriefe (Hypothekendarlehenpfandbriefe) the following paragraphs set out some of the more fundamental principles governing the laws regarding this type of Pfandbriefe only in overview form.

Cover Pool for Mortgage Pfandbriefe

The principal assets qualifying for the Cover Pool for Mortgage Pfandbriefe are loans secured by mortgages or land charges respectively which may serve as cover up to the initial 60 per cent. of the value of the property (mortgage lending value / Beleihungswert), as assessed by experts of the Pfandbrief Bank not taking part in the credit decision in accordance with comprehensive evaluation rules designed to determine the market value of the property. Moreover, the mortgaged property must be adequately insured against risks relevant to the type and location of the property.

The property that may be encumbered by the mortgages must be situated in a member state of the European Union or any state of the European Economic Area, Switzerland, the United Kingdom, the United States, Canada, Japan, Australia, New Zealand or Singapore.

The total volume of claims against debtors in non-European Union states for which it is not ensured that the preferential right of the Mortgage Pfandbrief creditors pursuant to Section 30(1) Pfandbrief Act extends to the claims may not exceed 10 per cent. of the total volume of claims for which the preferential right is ensured or for which there is an obligation pursuant Section 30(2a) sentence 3 Pfandbrief Act.

In addition, the cover prescribed in Section 12(1) Pfandbrief Act for Mortgage Pfandbriefe may comprise a limited portion of other assets as follows:

- (i) in accordance with a general ruling issued on the basis of Section 4b(5) Pfandbrief Act, up to a total of 8 per cent. of the total amount of Mortgage Pfandbriefe outstanding by way of claims to the amount payable uniformly to the Pfandbrief Bank upon premature termination of the framework agreement in respect of a derivative transaction existing with a counterparty pursuant to Section 4b(4) no. 4 Pfandbrief Act under the conditions specified therein;
- (ii) up to a total of 10 per cent. of the total amount of Mortgage Pfandbriefe in circulation
 - (a) by money claims, provided that the Pfandbrief Bank knows the amount of the claim at the time of purchase, the fulfilment of which is not conditional, limited in time, subordinated to other claims by way of a legal transaction or restricted in any other way, against credit institutions which meet the conditions of Section 4(1)(3) no. 3 Pfandbrief Act and to which a risk weighting corresponding to credit rating 2 has been assigned;
 - (b) by respective credit balances from an account relationship with the credit institutions specified in (a) above;
 - (c) by claims to the amount to be paid uniformly to the Pfandbrief Bank in the event of early termination of the framework agreement in respect of a derivative transaction concluded with a credit institution which meets the conditions of Section 4(1)(3) no. 3 Pfandbrief Act and to which a risk weighting corresponding to credit rating 2 has been assigned;
- (iii) subject to certain qualifications, up to a total sum of 15 per cent. of the aggregate amount of outstanding Mortgage Pfandbriefe, claims,
 - (a) by cover assets of the type specified in Section 4(1)(3) no. 1 and 2 Pfandbrief Act;
 - (b) provided that the Pfandbrief Bank knows the amount of the claim at the time of purchase, the fulfilment of which is not conditional, limited in time, subordinated to other claims by way of a legal transaction or restricted in any other way, money claims against the European Central Bank, the central banks of member states of the European Union or another member state to the Agreement on the European Economic Area, or against credit institutions which meet the conditions of Section 4(1)(3) no. 3 Pfandbrief Act and to which a risk weighting corresponding to credit rating 1 has been assigned;
 - (c) by respective credit balances from an account relationship with the credit institutions specified in (a) above;
 - (d) by claims to the amount to be paid uniformly to the Pfandbrief Bank in the event of early termination of the framework agreement in respect of a derivative transaction concluded with the Federal Republic of Germany, a German state or a credit institution which meets the conditions of Section 4(1)(3) no. 3 Pfandbrief Act and to which a risk weighting corresponding to credit rating 1 has been assigned;

- (iv) up to a total of 20 per cent. of the total amount of Mortgage Pfandbriefe outstanding by means of cover assets of the type specified in Section 20(1) Pfandbrief Act, provided that such cover assets are bonds.

Mortgage Pfandbriefe are subject to a minimum level of 2 per cent. of overcollateralisation as defined in point (14) of Article 3 of the Covered Bond Directive.

Insolvency Proceedings

In the event of the institution of insolvency proceedings over the assets of the Pfandbrief Bank, any Cover Pool maintained by it would not be part of the insolvency estate (Separation Principle), and, therefore, such insolvency would not automatically result in an insolvency of any Cover Pool. Only if at the same time or thereafter the relevant Cover Pool were to become insolvent, separate insolvency proceedings would be initiated against such Cover Pool by the BaFin. In this case, holders of Pfandbriefe would have a preferred claim against the respective Cover Pool. Their preferential right would also extend to interest on the Pfandbriefe accrued after the commencement of insolvency proceedings. Furthermore, but only to the extent that holders of Pfandbriefe suffer a loss, holders would also have recourse to any assets of the Pfandbrief Bank not included in the Cover Pools. As regards those assets, holders of the Pfandbriefe would rank equal with other unsecured and unsubordinated creditors of the Pfandbrief Bank.

For each Cover Pool a Cover Pool Administrator will be appointed in the case of the insolvency of the Pfandbrief Bank to administer the Cover Pool. The Cover Pool Administrator will be appointed by the court having jurisdiction at the location of the head office of the Pfandbrief Bank upon recommendation of the BaFin. The Cover Pool Administrator will be subject to the supervision of the court and also of the BaFin with respect to the duties of the Pfandbrief Bank arising in connection with the administration of the assets included in the relevant Cover Pool. The purpose of separating the Cover Pool assets from the insolvency estate is the timely fulfilment of the Pfandbrief liabilities and the proper administration of the cover pool assets. The Cover Pool Administrator is entitled to undertake all legal transactions having effect on the relevant Pfandbrief Bank with limited business activities which are necessary for a correct administration of the Cover Pool assets in the interests of the fullest and timely fulfilment of the relevant Pfandbrief liabilities; the administrator may in particular procure liquid funds to ensure the complete settlement of outstanding Pfandbriefe. The insolvency administrator is entitled to demand the transfer of cover pool assets to the insolvency estate if and to the extent that those assets are obviously not necessary to satisfy Pfandbrief claims.

The German Pfandbrief Act provides for the protection of rights of holders of Pfandbriefe by provisions which clarify that measures that may be implemented on the basis of the German Recovery and Resolution Act (Sanierungs- und Abwicklungsgesetz) that increase the powers of the competent resolution authority in case of financial difficulties of a credit institution do not apply to the Pfandbrief business of the respective credit institution, but only to the remaining part of the business of the respective credit institution.

Any transfer in relation to cover pool assets shall be made in accordance with the Pfandbrief Act. A transfer of cover pool assets may also comprise the direct transfer of assets registered in the cover registers and the corresponding Pfandbrief obligations.

Certain assets of a Pfandbrief Bank (including, in particular, the Cover Pool) and the claims of the Holders of Pfandbriefe continue to exist outside of general insolvency proceedings as a Pfandbrief Bank with limited business activity (Pfandbriefbank mit beschränkter Geschäftstätigkeit). In the case of a liquidity shortfall, the possibility exists that the maturity of outstanding Pfandbriefe is deferred up to 12 months pursuant to Section 30 (2a) et seq. Pfandbrief Act. Such maturity deferral can only be effected by the Cover Pool Administrator. The appointment of the Cover Pool Administrator must be made in accordance with Section 31 (1) and (11) Pfandbrief Act and is possible only in certain cases; in particular, the Cover Pool Administrator may be appointed prior to the opening of insolvency proceedings, for example, if the requirements of Section 46 KWG are met or in connection with reorganisation proceedings. Subject to the consent of the BaFin, the Cover Pool Administrator may transfer all or part of the cover assets and the liabilities arising from the Pfandbriefe issued against such assets to another Pfandbrief Bank.

TAXATION

THE TAX LEGISLATION OF THE STATE OF RESIDENCE OF A PROSPECTIVE PURCHASER OF PFANDBRIEF OR OF A JURISDICTION WHERE A PROSPECTIVE PURCHASER IS SUBJECT TO TAXATION AND THE TAX LEGISLATION OF THE ISSUER'S COUNTRY OF INCORPORATION OR COUNTRY OF RESIDENCE MAY HAVE AN IMPACT ON THE INCOME RECEIVED FROM THE PFANDBRIEF.

PROSPECTIVE PURCHASERS OF PFANDBRIEF ARE ADVISED TO CONSULT THEIR OWN TAX ADVISOR AS TO THE TAX CONSEQUENCES OF THE PURCHASE, OWNERSHIP AND DISPOSITION OF THE PFANDBRIEF.

SUBSCRIPTION AND SALE OF THE PFANDBRIEFE

General

Pursuant to a subscription agreement dated 5 September 2025 (the "Subscription Agreement") among the Issuer and the Joint Lead Managers, the Issuer has agreed to sell to the Joint Lead Managers, and the Joint Lead Managers have agreed, subject to certain customary closing conditions, to purchase, the Pfandbriefe on or around 9 September 2025. The Issuer has furthermore agreed to pay certain fees to the Joint Lead Managers and to reimburse the Joint Lead Managers for certain expenses incurred in connection with the issue of the Pfandbriefe.

The Issuer has agreed to indemnify the Joint Lead Managers against certain liabilities in connection with the offer and sale of the Pfandbriefe.

Certain of the Joint Lead Managers and their respective affiliates may be customers of, borrowers from or creditors of the Issuer and its affiliates. In addition, certain Joint Lead Managers and their respective affiliates have engaged, and may in the future engage, in investment banking and/or commercial banking transactions with, and may perform services for, the Issuer and its affiliates in the ordinary course of business. They have received, or may in the future receive, customary fees and commissions for these transactions. In particular, in the ordinary course of their business activities, the Joint Lead Managers and their respective affiliates may make or hold a broad array of investments and actively trade debt and equity securities (or related derivative securities) and financial instruments (including bank loans) for their own account and for the accounts of their customers. Such investments and securities activities may involve securities and/or instruments of the Issuer or its affiliates. The Joint Lead Managers and/or their affiliates may receive allocations of Pfandbriefe (subject to customary closing conditions), which could affect future trading of the Pfandbriefe. Certain of the Joint Lead Managers or their respective affiliates may have a lending relationship with the Issuer and in such case routinely hedge their credit exposure to the Issuer consistent with their customary risk management policies. Typically, such Joint Lead Managers and their respective affiliates would hedge such exposure by entering into transactions which consist of either the purchase of credit default swaps or the creation of short positions in securities, including potentially the Pfandbriefe. Any such positions could adversely affect future trading prices of the Pfandbriefe. The Joint Lead Managers and their respective affiliates may also make investment recommendations and/or publish or express independent research views in respect of such securities or financial instruments and may hold, or recommend to clients that they acquire, long and/or short positions in such securities and instruments.

There are no interests of natural and legal persons involved in the issue, including conflicting ones, that are material to the issue.
